Flight Crew Per Diem Calculator

If your employer reimburses you for your meals and incidentals through a per diem method and the per diem rate reimbursed is less than the federal per diem rate, you may be able to deduct the difference.

Wolcott & Associates, P.A. has an online Per Diem Calculator designed to help pilots and flight attendants obtain their maximum federal per diem tax deductions from their day and over-night travel.

Trips can be entered flight-by-flight or in total using either the IATA or ICAO code. The report summarizes the number of days by airport code and provides a total which can be used to complete your Form 2106 on your personal tax return.

Flight Crew Expense Reporter

The IRS allows pilots, flight crews, and flight attendants to deduct travel-related purchases and other employment related expenses.

Our exclusive Flight Expense Reporter is an efficient and time saving tool which assists you in detailing your travel related purchases such as uniforms, suitcases and other travel related items.

Flight crew expenses can be entered into one of the Expense Reporter's preset categories or you can create your own categories. As with the Per Diem report, the total expenses are summarized and ready for use on your personal tax return as itemized deductions.
